Tennessee Family Medicine was founded by Dr. John Millspaugh in September 2007 with the intent to offer a simple, high quality medical clinic for the best patient care experience.

Tennessee Family Medicine is a family oriented clinic with unprecedented online access utilizing the latest technology. With our electronic medical record system, our patients can view their labs in detail and their statements online through our secure patient portal. They can also request appointments, send messages to our providers, request refills online and receive appointment reminders via email. It allows a first for collaborative medical records where our patients can contribute directly to their own records.

We strive to have a friendly and helpful staff member answer each call instead of having patients get caught up in an endless automated phone tree. We offer same day appointments for patients who are sick so they won't need to fragment their care elsewhere. We understand our patients are busy and have other options, so we always try to accommodate their schedules.

We offer laboratory services drawn in house for the convenience of our patients by very experienced staff. Our patients often brag about the ability of our phlebotomist and her nearly painless technique. Lab results are quickly available through our secure online patient portal.
